COLUMBIANA,

It Would Take So Little

They muse about what would happen if every day were like Dec. 25. There could be a miracle 365 days a year, at Christmas. Some do try. They know it can be done. They have proved countless times that the spirit of Christmas can be permanent.

They live each day as if it were Christ-man existence.

THERE COULD BE the spirit of Christmas and the miracle of human good will every day of the year.

Rancor and bitterness would be laid aside as handicaps too heavy for humanity to bear. Prejudice and revenge would be unworthy

Merry Christmas would be everlasting.

All it would take is the same thought that underlies every sincere wish for a Merry Christmas - that whatever is good should be dominant over whatever is bad and that everything good should be aided and encour-

That is not an impossible wish. Millions make it and fulfill it every day of their lives. They strive tirelessly too make it come true. They shut out hatred and close their minds to revenge.

THEY WORK as hard at their task of keeping alive the spiritual force that makes Christmas the happiest day of the year as others are willing to work to destroy brotherly love and good will. And to the extent that they do their work well, Christian civiization survives and persists.

On this day of all days, they seek converts to their way of living. They have shown by precept what could happen if Christmas were to become permanent.

The miracle that makes humanity feel lifted above itself does not need to be restricted to one day a year, or even to the Christmas season.

Merry Christmas for the whole year!

Holding Santa Claus for Ransom

One way or another, everybody will survive the strikes that have been timed to occur at Christmas this year, when they would be certain to cause maximum injury.

The Christmas spirit will not be extinguished or even dampened by the cold water dashed on it by strikes against Christmas advertisers and shoppers in New York City's newspaper industry.

Even the thousands of persons who had planned to travel by plane and were forced to change their plans at the last minute will weather the strikes that have tied up about a third of the country's air transportation.

But people who have experienced this kind of calculated inconvenience will not forget it easily once the inconvenience has passed. It will be part of the background for their human being tries to make to the environment in which he lives.

If Santa Claus is going to be held for ransom at Christmas by pressure blocs, that prospect will have to be taken into consideration each year at the beginning of the Christmas season.

Every plan for the holidays, every wish for a Merry Christmas will have to be modified to the extent that its fulfillment may be blocked by a planned stoppage of service to create maximum inconvenience.

The Christmas strike has been incorporated into the strategy of unionism. It inflicts the greatest possible amount of damage on everybody concerned, including the strikers. Therefore, it is the strongest weapon that can be used to show unionism's strength.

Competition Is the Spice of Rocketry

The only thing wrong with international competition in rocketry is a fault it shares with international competition in yachting. The spectators don't understand the technical obscurities.

But they - we - can exult over the scoring of a triumph. The Atlas missile casing now in orbit around the earth is a triumph. It is at least as heavy and perhaps heavier than the combined weight of the Soviet Union's Sputnik III and its burned-out rocket casing, which staye daloft from last May to early this December. But on the other hand, the newest U.S. Satellite, officially known as Score, will not stay up as long.

Its significance in U.S.-U.S.S.R competition is the rocket thrust that matched and may have exceeded slightly the hitherto incredible thrust of the Russian rocket that hurled Sputnik III into orbit, The United States apparently has learned how to match the Russian engineers in rocket thrust. It now appears improbable the Russians are using atomic energy, as sometimes had been suspected. That will be the next big move.

SCIENTIFICALLY, the significance of Operation Score is the guidance system built into it and a two-way communication system needed for development of space exploration by manned missiles in years to come. Whether the Russian rocket designers are abreast or perhaps ahead of these developments is unknown and unknowable, if they choose to keep it that way.

From now on, competition is to be first in outer space will be stepped up. So far, it lies between the United States and the Soviet Union. But in due time, every country with the resources to get into the game will be designing and firing rockets.

The Japanese are at work on rockets. The Chinese are busy. The Germans can be expected to show their usual mastery of all

All through the world people are thinking of peace and joy. To many, these are real! To some, they are only a dream put to words by poets and printers. To others, the peace and joy of Christmas are part of a tradition during a time for giving and receiving gifts. But whatever it is, the Christ-

Spenders Challenged

Eisenhower Has Lowered the Budget

President Eisenhower has flung the national income. a challenge to the "spenders." He has announced that a balanced budget for the coming fiscal year it around 77 billions is feasible and will ecommended to the next session of Congress. This is lower than last year's budget by about $2,200,000,000. The Presient is count- David Lawrence ing, of course, on a substantial increase in receipts from the present tax rates-due to the improvement in business conditions generally. It is likely that even if the formal budget is not exactly in balance there will be a cash surplus anyhow.

This is welcome news to the country. Politically it is a wise move. It places the full responsibility on the Democratic partywhich controls Congress-to keep the expenditures in line with the recommendation of the President.

If there is considerable deviation, the American people will be able to tell which party should properly be called the party of the "spenders" and which one is the party of the "savers."

Mr. Eisenhower's statement significantly declares that the balanced budget is designed "to prevent inflation, to encourage economic expansion and to fulfill American responsibilities of world leadership.'

Lately there has been worry abroad about the decline in the value of the dollar. A balanced budget, as the President says, is an assurance that "our government is determined to live within Broadly speaking the news of the President's action does not come a moment too soon.

THE CONGRESSIONAL E L E Ctions had been widely interpreted as meaning that the "spenders" were to be in the saddle and that persons with fixed incomes could expect a further decline in the purchasing power of the dollar due to bigger and bigger federal deficits.

With all the talk about "liberalism" and "conservatism," there is no issue that counts for more among the millions of persons of fixed income than a sound dollar.

The drive for "welfare" spending has lately been renewed. Anybody who believes in a balanced budget and favors paying off the public debt instead of indulging in more and more extravagances has been denounced by the spenders as a "reactionary" or as being "to the right of McKinley."

It is, of course, old fashioned to pay one's debts and not to spend more money than one takes in.

The "modern" idea in politics is that government spending can be without limit and that the more that is spent the higher will be

Unfortunately, the history of bankrupt countries from ancient days is the same-there are always politicians who defy eco-nomic laws. The one thing they miscalculate is the confidence of the people in their own menetary This suddenly vanishes into thin air when people become convinced that there is never going to be any balanced budget or payment of the INFLATION is bearable up to the point where people suddenly grow panicky and lose conficence in the dollar, as prices soar. Then runaway inflation ensues and the story of what happened in Germany in 1923 is recent enough to warn the present generation that people do not believe indefinitely in the infallibility of a government that keeps on running deficits.

What the President has done is to bolster confidence in the dollar inside the United States and throughout the world. It is an achievement of transcendent im-

It comes at a psychological moment-when an overwhelming majority of the Democratic party is about to take control of the legislative branch of the government.

Fortunately for the United States there is in the South a conservative faction of the Democratic party which can be counted upon to support conservative fiscal policies. Notable among its leaders is Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, who may be expected to lead the fight against the spenders in his own

IT WAS CERTAINLY good strategy for the President to make his announcement about a balanced budget now instead of waiting till next month when his budget message will be formally presented to Congress.

The moment it became apparent to him that the budget could be balanced, it was important to give the news to the world.

To hold expenses down and balance the budget in itself is good news but to do it with 'higher expenditures than ever before in time of peace for national defense" is to assure the country that the biggest need of all-national defense-will be fulfilled. On top of this is the pledge tht there will be no request from the President for any "general tax increases." This news will be received everywhere with relief because lately there has been some agitation for tax increases to pay for the increased spending. To hold expenses down and balance the budget is going to be difficult if the politicians have their way, but public opinion can restrain the spenders-and the Presdent has taken the first bold step toward mobilizing public opinion behind his constructive policy. The New York Herald-Tribune

Letter to Santa

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Eisenhower's letter to Santa Claus - if he were to write to Santa Claus at 68 - could go like this, since it isn't hard to guess what he has on his mind:

Dear Mr. Claus: I have been living at my present address the past six years. It's a big white house on Pennsylvania Avenue. It has nine chimneys. So you should have no trouble finding me.

Since I have been here, I've done my best not to say anything mean to anyone. I know I do sound awful mad sometimes - about every two years, around election time-at some of the neighbors.

They're the Democrats, a very big family. Every once in a while they pick on me, especially at election time. Then they're real mean to me. And I get mad back. It doesn't last long.

Most of the time we get along nicely, but I'd appreciate it if you could bring them a big dose of something-like soothing syrup so they'd always be nice to me. That would be a real good Christmas present. I can tell you why. I have to live here another two years before the lease is up. And in that time I would like to be one person I have in mind. He's a kind of roly-poly fat man with a bald head. He'd look like you if he had some hair and a white beard. To hear him talk, you'd think he was Santa Claus hirnself.

He's always promising to make things better for people. He's a real pushy type. He gets on my nerves. His name is Nikita Khrushchev.

Could you please put some sense in his head and get him to give up these crazy notions he has about communism being better than capitalism? I think things would get better right away. At least, I hope so.

I'd like some money, too, a lot of money. Not for myself. I'm getting along all right. But for the

I know it doesn't make any difference to you whether a child is white or Negro. And it never seems to make any difference to children, either, whether you just went down a white chimney or Negro chimney, so long as you come down theirs.

I could use some help on this. For four years, ever since the Supreme Court said no more racial segregation in the public schools, I have been having trouble with white people in the South who won't obey the court.

I think I'm going to keep on having trouble for the rest of my two years here unless something unusual happens. And I can't think what that might be. Do you have an answer?

There is certainly one other thing I'd like for Christmas. That's some kind of medicine to make my cousins, the Republicans big and strong again. They're beginning to look awful puny, no matter what I have tried to do for them

They don't get along with the voters. The Democdats are forever picking on them. And they don't seem to know how to win elections any more.

Unless things get better fast we are going to be in bad shape when I leave here in 1961 and one of the cousins wants to take over the

State Champion East Tech To Invade Salem Friday

Scarabs Win Streak At 31

Tech Averages 6-5; 4 In Double Digits

By GORDON ARNDT

The biggest game of the season on Salem's 1958-59 basketball schedule, will take place Friday night when the Quakirs entertain vaunted Cleveland East Tech, the 1957-58 Class AA state champ.

Last season John Broski's Scarabs swept past 26 opponent in capturing the Class AA crown. So far this year they have annihilated five foes to increase their win streak to 31. They have not lost a game since being beaten 69-65 by Cleveland Gathedral Latin in the Berea regional finals during the 1956-57 season.

East Tech will bring a squad to Salem whose starting five will probably average over 6-5 in height. The all-negro team also has four men back from last year's championship array and the entire quartet is averaging high in the double figures.

In murdering five teams since opening this year's schedule, the Cleveland school has averaged 84.6 points a game to their opponents' 44.0. Meanwhile, in compiling a 3-0 mark, Salem is averaging 69.0 per tilt to their foes' 48.7.

Big 6-6 Ken Glenn is Tech's high point man. He has 107 points in five games for a 21.4 average. Dan Krichbaum is pacing Salem's scorers with 50 in three games for a 16.7 clip. He is only 5.9.

Tech's next big man is 6-2 Jim Stone, a long-range jump shooter who was all-state last year. He is averaging 16.0 per game. Next in line is 6-3 LaMoyne Porter at a 13.2 rate. Their fourth big scorer is 6-8 Ed Ferguson who comes in at a 12.5 average in four games.

AMERICANS ON THE MARCH - No matter how you figure it, there are going to be a lot of Americans around in the next two decades. The result of continuing high birth rate and lengthening life span brings both smiles and frowns to observers of the population boom. The trend means not only promise of great economic growth, but danger of social turmoil, as well. As each age group grows in numbers, so do the demands for services it makes on government, whether federal or local. The U.S. Census Bureau has just published four different projections of population up to 1980 (see Newschart above). They are based on the assumption that there will be no war, epidemic or other catastrophe. At the highest predicted rate, about 100 million persons will be added. Even should the fertility rate drop back to the World War II level, America will count over 50 million more persons by 1980. At the present (1957) growth rate some 85 million will be added in the period. Table in chart breaks this down into age-group totals by years.

We Wish You A Merry Christmas

Christmas is the time of year For much happiness and cheer Time for fun and time for joy For each little girl and boy.

It's time for joy for grown ups too The time for fun for all of you The family all at home to cheer The happiest day of the year.

But most of us live too fast We forget the things thats past The little things that mean so much It seems we're getting out of touch.

Christmas time it seems to me Is not just presents and a tree It's health and freedom to enjoy The growing up of girl and boy.

The little things that make life sweet Are the things thats hard to beat The picnic by the Old Mill stream It now seems just like a dream.

Its hurry here and hurry there I am sure we know not where We are heading or have been To me it seems like a sin.

To waste our lives in this way Rushing round day by day Let us stop and look around am sure it will be found.

The miracles that God put here To enjoy on this sphere Are the best things after all Winter, summer, spring and fall.

Thy not on this day of bliss Just sit around and reminisce Turn off that radio and T.V. And I am sure that you will see.

The real meaning of Christmas day to you And you'll remember all year thru God gave you all these things at hand So you could be a better man.

THE LAW, which President Eisenhower now is considering asking for in his special labor message to Congress, is simply the counterpart of what he urged last year in his anti-rackets proposals. At least that's the way it was outlined last Monday during an all day session with the President in the White House.

Present at the meeting, too. were the Republican Senate and House leaders. There was a briefing by the secretary of labor. The President listened, apparently approvingly. The GOP strategists

The first clue to the legal mechanism to be used-which will bring the labor leaders charging up the Hill next January-is found in Jim Mitchell's speech to the icy AFL-CIO convention in wintry Atlantic City last December. If the delegates-some 800 men of considerable political as well as industrial power-had listened carefully, they'd have heard this:

Better Budgeting For 1959

It's Your Pocketbook

NEA Staff Writer)

Yet perhaps your enthusiasm's dampened. Perhaps your holiday savings didn't measure up to what you wanted to spend. Year-end bonuses in many an industry, weren't as lush as in yesteryear. This is a good moment then to to give some thought to better budgeting for 1959. Who can help you? Your banker can. In the past several days two varied approaches to this prob-review your spending of the year,

lem have come my way. The first is a pamphlet issued by the American Bankers Assn. called "Controlling Family Finances." It offers three simple methods, leaving the decision of which is best up to you. The alterna-

A "NO BUDGET" plan in which you first list your fixed expenses - all items you know you will have to pay in the coming year - then set aside a definite amount to be saved each payday and finally allocate for current expenses that portion of your income that remains available for daily living

A "complete budget plan" wherein you are urged to first keep careful records for all family expenses for a trial period. Three months is advocted as ample. At the end of this trial-period you should be able to figure, with considerable accuracy, your fixed expenses, decide on your cash savings and develop practical alloca-tions as a prelude to setting up an atual budget.

Less complex is the ABA's "simple budget plan" whereby through either experience or trial and error you decide on desired allocations for spending and saving. If this is your plan, you are urged to make periodic checks on your spending and saving patterns to make certain they are kept in proper balance.

THE SECOND APPROACH to this matter of budgeting that I've just received comes from First National Bank of Minneapolis. Called "New Spending Guide for Budget-Minded Families," it is an actual work book designed to help you figure spendable income, to enter anticipated fixed expenses and to allow you to plan for flex-

Veterans Guide

Q-About a year ago I told VA to hold the dividends on my GI insurance to my credit. If I don't pay the quarterly premium due next month, will the VA deduct it from those dividend credits?

A-No. VA is not permitted to withdraw a quarterly premium from your dividend credit without your written consent. The VA, however, will withdraw monthly premiums to keep your insurance from lapsing.

Q-I receive a pension from A, and last year I sold a plot of ground I owned and bought another. I made a small profit on the sale. Must I report it, in reporting 1958 income for VA pension purposes?

A - Yes. The law says that your profit on the transaction must be reported, which would be the profit you realized after deducting all expenses incident to the sale.

RECORD CROP YEAR - American farmers, blessed by good weather and aided by modern technology, this year produced the biggest crops in U.S. history, 11 per cent more than the previous record year of 1957. Wheat and corn, the biggest crops, showed marked gains even though they were planted on the least acreage since 1918, 320 million acres. Production records were set for eight crops: wheat, corn, soybeans, barley, sorghum grain, hay, popcorn and tung nuts. Fourteen other crops chalked up new highs for acreage yield. Corn yielded 51.7 bushels an acre this year compared with 47.1 in 1957. Wheat yields were 27.3 bushels an acre compared with 21.7 in 1957.
